Dear Gentlemen,

I have the wish to sell my collection of medals having no children who have a mind to collect further this valuable things.

Therefore I have the honour to offer my extraordinary fine greek and roman medals and also some hungarian medals from the reign of the house of Árpád. Between the roman medals are also some pieces of Aes Grave, Caracalla and Geta coins and you know that these have a great value by means of their scarcity. We can find them very seldomly except in the British Museum. Then I can offer also very valuable and beautiful boxes of gold and miniatures.

In case of accepting my offer I beg you to honour me with an early reply. As my daughter will marry in next time I should like to make this business during the high standing of the american valuta, because this is also a great advantage for me. Perhaps we can be in connection with the american mission staying in Hungary to wind up more easily our business.

Awaiting your answer, I am Dear Gentlemen

your faithfully

Brenner Jerome

The copies ^{or printings} of the medals I will send by post as sample without value.
